

Thorne Round Walk Route

The Thorne Round Walk is based on the course of the River Don, its associated waterways and immediately surrounding countryside. As its name suggests, the 'round walk' may be taken clockwise or anti-clockwise, with various starting points, but the most popular one is The Delves. The walk is approximately 18.5 km (11.5 miles), which may be shortened to about 13 km (8 miles) by using the short-cut across the River Don.

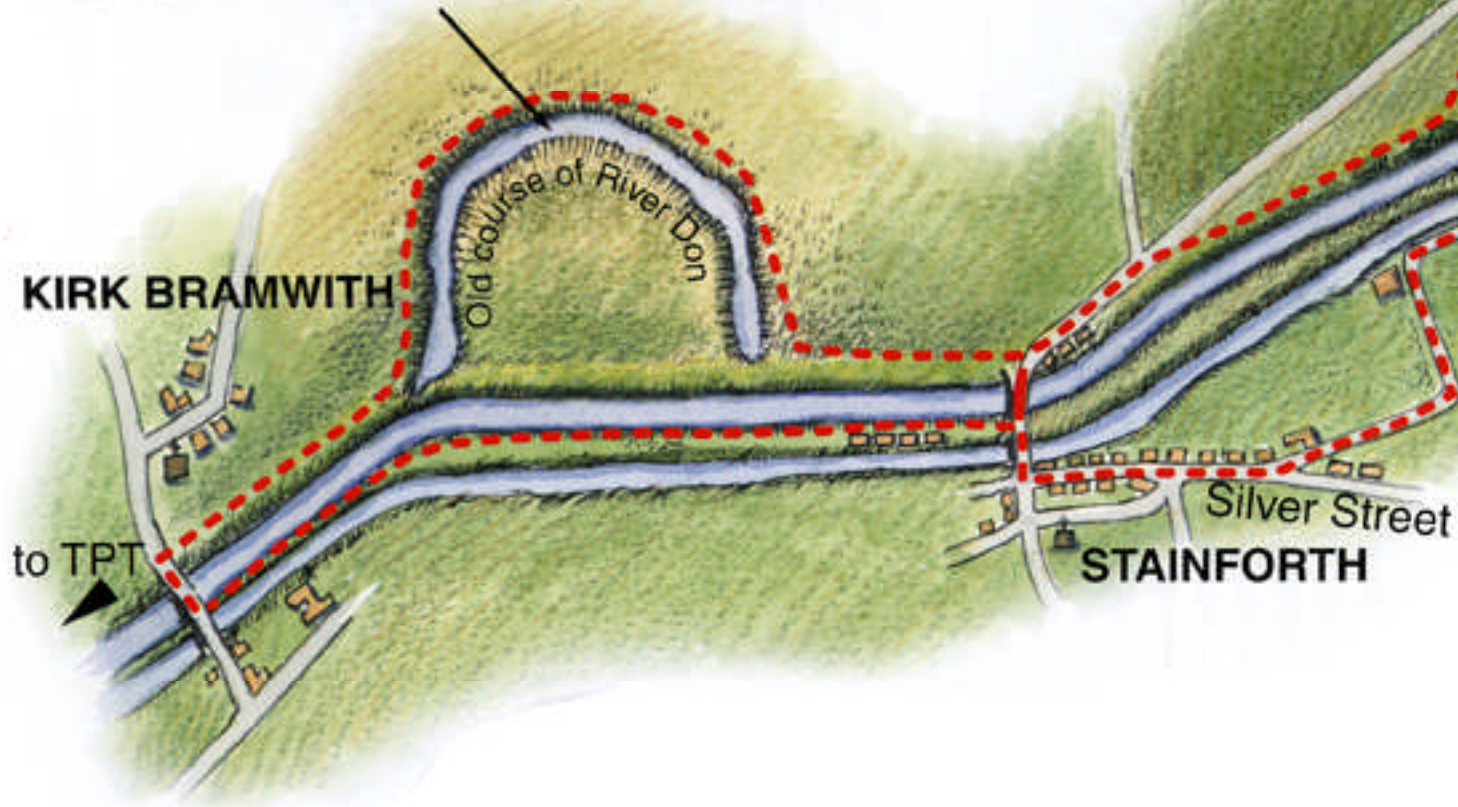

The mixture of habitats found along the way contributes to an interesting walk and the various species of wildlife which live here add to the experience.

The walk is waymarked with a logo

It is used to let you know you are on the right track. There is also a link to the Trans Pennine Trail (TPT) at the western end of the route. Follow the map below (and the waymarks on the ground) and enjoy the Thorne Round Walk.

Please note: there are a number of stiles to cross.

The River Don flowed around this loop until the 1870s.
